TotalCloud PBX Executive Seat

An enterprise-class Unified Communications and Collaboration (UCC) solution. With Today's fast-paced business environment and virtual offices, communicating with employees, clients, and prospects requires more than just making phone calls.

TotalCloud PBX Executive Seats provide a seamless collaboration experience controllable by the user through applications available on Windows, Android, and iOS using the TotalCloud PBX Hub app. Collaboration features include advanced call routing, auto attendant, HD audio and video, instant messaging, conferencing, screen & file sharing. A variety of seat options are available, choose the right-size TotalCloud PBX solution for your business. Visit www.birch.com/tcpbx to learn more.

One Source for Everything

Reduce vendors down to a single source by managing all UCC from a single platform and provider all on one bill. When issues happen, make one phone call to solve any problem.

Simplicity

Reduce meeting setup time to seconds allowing you to dive immediately into a collaborative work session from any device.

Internal & External Collaboration

Immediately add parties from inside and outside of your business to your audio, video or screen share collaboration session without any additional software installation for either party, simply email a link and go live with a click.

Managed Services

Focus on your business and let us worry about how to make our technology meet your needs. Including the security and software updates required to protect you against the newest types of intrusions and attacks. Having a solution that is managed by Birch means your communications and networking portfolio will always be up-to-date without accommodating the overhead of technical staffing and real estate.

Additional rules and guidelines apply, see promotional certificate and terms for details.

Leveraging one platform for all collaboration tools limits business complexity as well as creates cost and support efficiencies for IT departments.
